

RSPB Complete Pin Badge Range

Supported by our large volunteer network, the RSPB has been making pin badges to raise funds for our vital conservation work since 1997. The initial four designs were of Bittern, Bullfinch, Puffin and Red Kite. The scheme has grown from raising tens of thousands of pounds per year to raising over £1million last year. New designs are released every year and there are now over 350 different designs to collect, including over 200 different species. There are plenty of birds as well as mammals, flowers, butterflies, moths, sea creatures and assorted others.

A visual representation of all the different designs the RSPB has produced are included here as a guide. They are listed alphabetically by design and multiple designs of the same species are listed in release order (earliest = 1, most recent = 2). Where there are enamel colour and size variations of the same design, these have not been included. Some of the visuals may differ slightly from production runs. Many of the designs are now out of production and we do not hold stock of them. The badges marked proof only, are extremely rare (only 1 or 2 ever made) and have previously been auctioned by the RSPB - they are now in private collections.

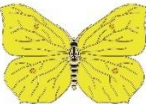

You can find our current badges at our reserves and shops, at events as well as in boxes around the country. What stock we do have at HQ will be listed on our E-Bay sellers page which, as well as current stock and new releases, will occasionally include older or rare badges if they do become available. Buying directly from the RSPB ensures your money goes towards our vital conservation efforts. Thank you for your support.
